

MISSISSAUGA — Trillium Health Partners is hosting a photo exhibit, called Chronicles of Future's Past, to help mark June as Seniors' Month.

The exhibit, which is on display at THP's Credit Valley Hospital in the atrium until June 9 and then moves to THP's Queensway Health Centre site June 10-14, features supercentenarians (people 110 years of age and older) as the subjects.

"Seniors' Month is a time to celebrate seniors' knowledge, experience and contribution within our community," said Andrea Thompson, Trillium's director of complex continuing care and seniors' services. "Celebrating Seniors' Month provides us with the opportunity to share information on health promotion to assist and support seniors and caregivers."

The exhibit showcases the works of photographer Jerry Friedman and celebrates the "well-lived lives" of the supercentenarians, organizers say.

Throughout the month, Trillium Health Partners will host numerous educational events on seniors' health for hospital employees and caregivers.
